Don't forget you can choose to complete any number of tasks (at least one) and present them in any way you want to.

Create a poster to share with your friends about a cause that is important to you (e.g. litter, recycling, animal rights).	Choose five famous people and find out about their impact on the world. Can you rank them from who you think is the most to the least important?	With an adult, research an inspirational figure. Can you share some facts with your class about this person?
Create your own speech about a cause that is important to you and how you would like to help or make a change.	With an adult, research an inspirational figure. Can you draw/paint/collage a portrait of this person?	Historically significant people can be divided into five different groups: activists, artists, explorers, monarchs and scientists. Write a definition to explain what each group does.
Find out about some people who changed the world. Create a timeline. Can you find out when they were born and put them in order?	Can you become an explorer for the day? Go on a walk and see what you can discover. Could you take any photographs to share with your class?	Would you like to be a scientist, artist or explorer when you grow up? Apply for a job by writing a sentence about why you would be good at it. Maybe you could you add a picture of you acting like this at home or out and about?
